The Web offers scores of free resources that are simple and easy to use to give you a brief introduction to Photoshop. You can also find a tutorial on YouTube that covers all the basics and even one specifically for the iPad. Applying Grayscale When you start working with images in Photoshop you will find that a significant amount of the time is spent on making your image grayscale. You might think that grayscale makes sense for text since it can be used in high-contrast settings but what about images? We tend to think of shades of gray only when we think about photographs, but we can use the tools and techniques for making grayscale images in nearly any type of artwork. * * * # Photoshop Tips and Tricks Here are some tips to keep in mind when working with Photoshop: * Select the Brush tool and click in the image to create a brush and then paint in a different color for the rest of your editing. Paint in a different color and then select the brush tool to give you a second brush without having to delete the first brush. This will help you avoid mistakes when switching colors. * For fine-tuning color of images you can use layer masks. To create a layer mask, select the layer, click the Add Layer Mask icon, and click OK in the dialog box. This creates a mask in the image which contains an X and a solid black image. You can use this tool when you are making an adjustment and either click to add or subtract, or drag to adjust the opacity of the mask. * * * You will need to create a new file, which is something you will master quickly if you have an understanding of saving files in Photoshop. 1. Create a new file, as shown in Figure 4-1 . If you do not have the file icon, choose File → New, select the RGB or CMYK color mode, and then click OK.

ftbfs_buster_unittest_generate_generated_code) Q: QPushButton in QTableView not working - stylus or DirectInput? I've been trying to get a QPushButton to work in QTableView for almost a week now and couldn't figure it out. It is working fine for stylus, but not working for DirectInput. I've been hunting google for a solution, but no luck. It seems like it can work both ways, but I can't seem to get it to work both ways. Does anyone know what might be the issue?
Here's the minimal code sample: Qt is 4.7.4 Qt Creator is 3.
